DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1, 2, 5-7, 11-16, 32-35, and 38-41, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sitrick (7,157,638) in view of Sitrick et al. (2003/0110926).

Sitrick ('638) discloses a musical performance self-training apparatus for supporting a player by displaying a performance instruction information on a display means, wherein the display means is further adapted to display music to be performed that is divided into plural units, each unit including a predetermined size of musical tone information of the music to be performed (Abstract), the apparatus comprising: a unit designating means (715) for designating a unit from the plural units (105) (column 17, lines 15-24), the units (105) constitute a music to be performed and each unit includes a predetermined size of musical tone information, and a performance instruction information generating means for generating the performance instruction information based on the musical tone information of the unit which is designated by the unit designating means (column 17, lines 25-43).

Sitrick('638) discloses the musical performance self-training apparatus, further comprises a lesson menu generating means for generating an image information of a lesson menu which has a score of the music to be played and the units corresponding to the score, then output the image information to the display means, wherein the unit designating means designates a unit automatically, which unit corresponding to the score of the performance instruction information to be displayed next (column 19, lines 3-6, 16-24; column 19, line 63 – column 20, line 7; and column 26, line 26 – column 27, line 41).

Sitrick('638) discloses wherein units having the same content are managed collectively as the same unit (column 26, line 26 – column 27, line 41).

Sitrick ('638) discloses an automatic and manual mode (column 10, lines 5-19), which allows control over the progress of the lesson distribution.

Sitrick ('638) discloses a musical performance judgment apparatus for evaluating musical performance (figures 2 and 13), wherein the judgment apparatus further comprising a performance result storage means for storing information relating to performance timing as a result of musical performance (column 25, lines 14-17); a judgment means (282/figure 2; and 1320,1330/figure 13) for comparing the information relating to the performance timing with the information relating to the performance timing included in the performance instruction and detecting the difference between these ; and an evaluation means (284,286/figure 2) for evaluating the performance, corresponding to the difference detected by the judgment means (column 11, lines 20-51; and column 25, lines 6-31).

Sitrick ('638) discloses the musical performance self-training apparatus, wherein a plurality of items are stored in the performance result storage means for each played note, as the information relating to the performance timing, and the evaluation means extracts the items evaluated best of the plurality of items with respect to all played notes, to evaluate the musical performance according to the mean value thereof (column 11, lines 20-43).

Sitrick ('638) discloses the musical performance self-training apparatus, wherein the information relating to the performance timing includes key-on time, key-off time, gate time and step time (column 20, lines 1-7; and column 21, lines 19-39).

Sitrick ('638) discloses the musical performance self-training apparatus, wherein the information relating to the performance timing further includes a value of ratio between the actual performance time and the performance time instructed by the performance instruction (column 11, lines 20-32).

Sitrick ('638) does not disclose contiguous units.

However, Sitrick et al. ('926) disclose display means having contiguous units (figures 5, 6, 24, and 25).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use the teachings of Sitrick et al. ('926) with the teachings of Sitrick ('638), because the teachings allow a view of more items in one view or glance, thereby providing more information.

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 3, 4, 8-10, 17-18, 36-37, 42, and 43 are allowed.
